

Do you want to take a break from your daily routine and come back inspired and highly motivated?
Do you want to get socially involved, because you are convinced that sharing knowledge and experience can have a sustainable impact? Do you want at the same time the chance to develop your personal skills?
Then we can offer you a possibility how to spend a meaningful sabbatical:

Interim advisor for a youth project in Tanzania

Period: min. 3 months

Project description:

Our partner is a non-profit organization based in Dar-es-Salaam, Tanzania. Its vision and mission is directed towards advocating general awareness of social, political and economic issues to the Tanzanian public, youth in particular. The organization provides entrepreneurship training and affordable Business Advisory Services to youth enterprises as well as civic, legal and human rights education to the community. They are now looking for an interim advisor to support the management team in the development of the further strategy.

Your duties and responsibilities:

- You support the management team in the establishment and the strengthening of resource mobilization.
- You design and develop further entrepreneurship trainings.
- You support the local team in marketing the organization and their activities.
- You constantly monitor and report on progress of the project to all stakeholders.

Your profile:

- You have at least 3-4 years work experience within a professional organizational setting.
- You have skills in strategic planning and marketing.
- You are able to communicate well and persuade others.
- You are interested in applying and developing your knowledge in the context of everyday life in Tanzania.
- You are in robust health and capable of working under difficult conditions.
- You have very good knowledge of English and work confidently with the MS office package.

What we offer:

We offer you the chance to spend a meaningful sabbatical in an intercultural and technically challenging environment providing assistance to the above mentioned project. You will receive intensive individual preparation and we assist before, during and after your voluntary service to create the necessary framework for your secure and sustainable sabbatical. This is a voluntary position. In order not to affect the project budget, you will also pay for local transport, boarding and food.

About Manager für Menschen®:
